9. Detailed description of the event:

Department of Economics actively participated in the Food Fest organized in the college campus on 01-03-2018. UG and PG students brought variety of food products and tried their level best to exhibit maximum items than any other department could. Thus our students brought 30 different food products. In their effort, they tried to ensure the quality of the products being served. First year degree students of our department showed special enthusiasm to make the participation of Economics department an impressive one. PG students helped UG students all the ways it possible for them. As a result of the united effort of the whole department including the support and guidance of the teachers, Food Stall arranged by Economics Department bagged Third Price in this Interdepartmental competition.

10. Outcome of the event/Evaluation by Program Coordinator:

- Students could exhibit their talent in the preparation of food products
- Could practice their theoretical knowledge in marketing their products
- Got an opportunity to think about starting ventures in the food industry
