9 Detailed description of the event:

The Department of Mathematics and Statistics organized a webinar titled "Introduction to Human Rights" on 6th September 2021, Monday, via the Google Meet platform. The target audience for the webinar consisted of third-year students from the Mathematics, Physics, and Chemistry departments. The objective of the webinar was to provide participants with an understanding of human rights and their significance in society.

The webinar began promptly at 2:00 pm with a melodious prayer song performed by Archana Prasad, a talented 3rd BSc. Mathematics student. Following the song, Sruthi K. S, also a 3rd BSc. Mathematics student, delivered a warm welcome speech, setting the tone for the session. Sona K. A, another 3rd BSc. Mathematics student, served as the compere, graciously inviting the esteemed resource person, Dr. Josukutty C. A, to commence the session.

Dr. Josukutty C. A, an Associate Professor from the Department of Political Science at the University of Kerala, conducted the webinar. With his extensive knowledge and experience in the field, he eloquently explained the meaning, concept, and objectives of human rights. Dr. Josukutty emphasized the fundamental principle that all individuals are born free and should be treated equally, with equal dignity and rights. His presentation was clear, concise, and easily comprehensible, enabling the participants to grasp the significance of human rights.

10 Outcome of the event/Evaluation by Program Coordinator:

Participants gained a clear understanding of the concept of human rights and their application in various contexts.

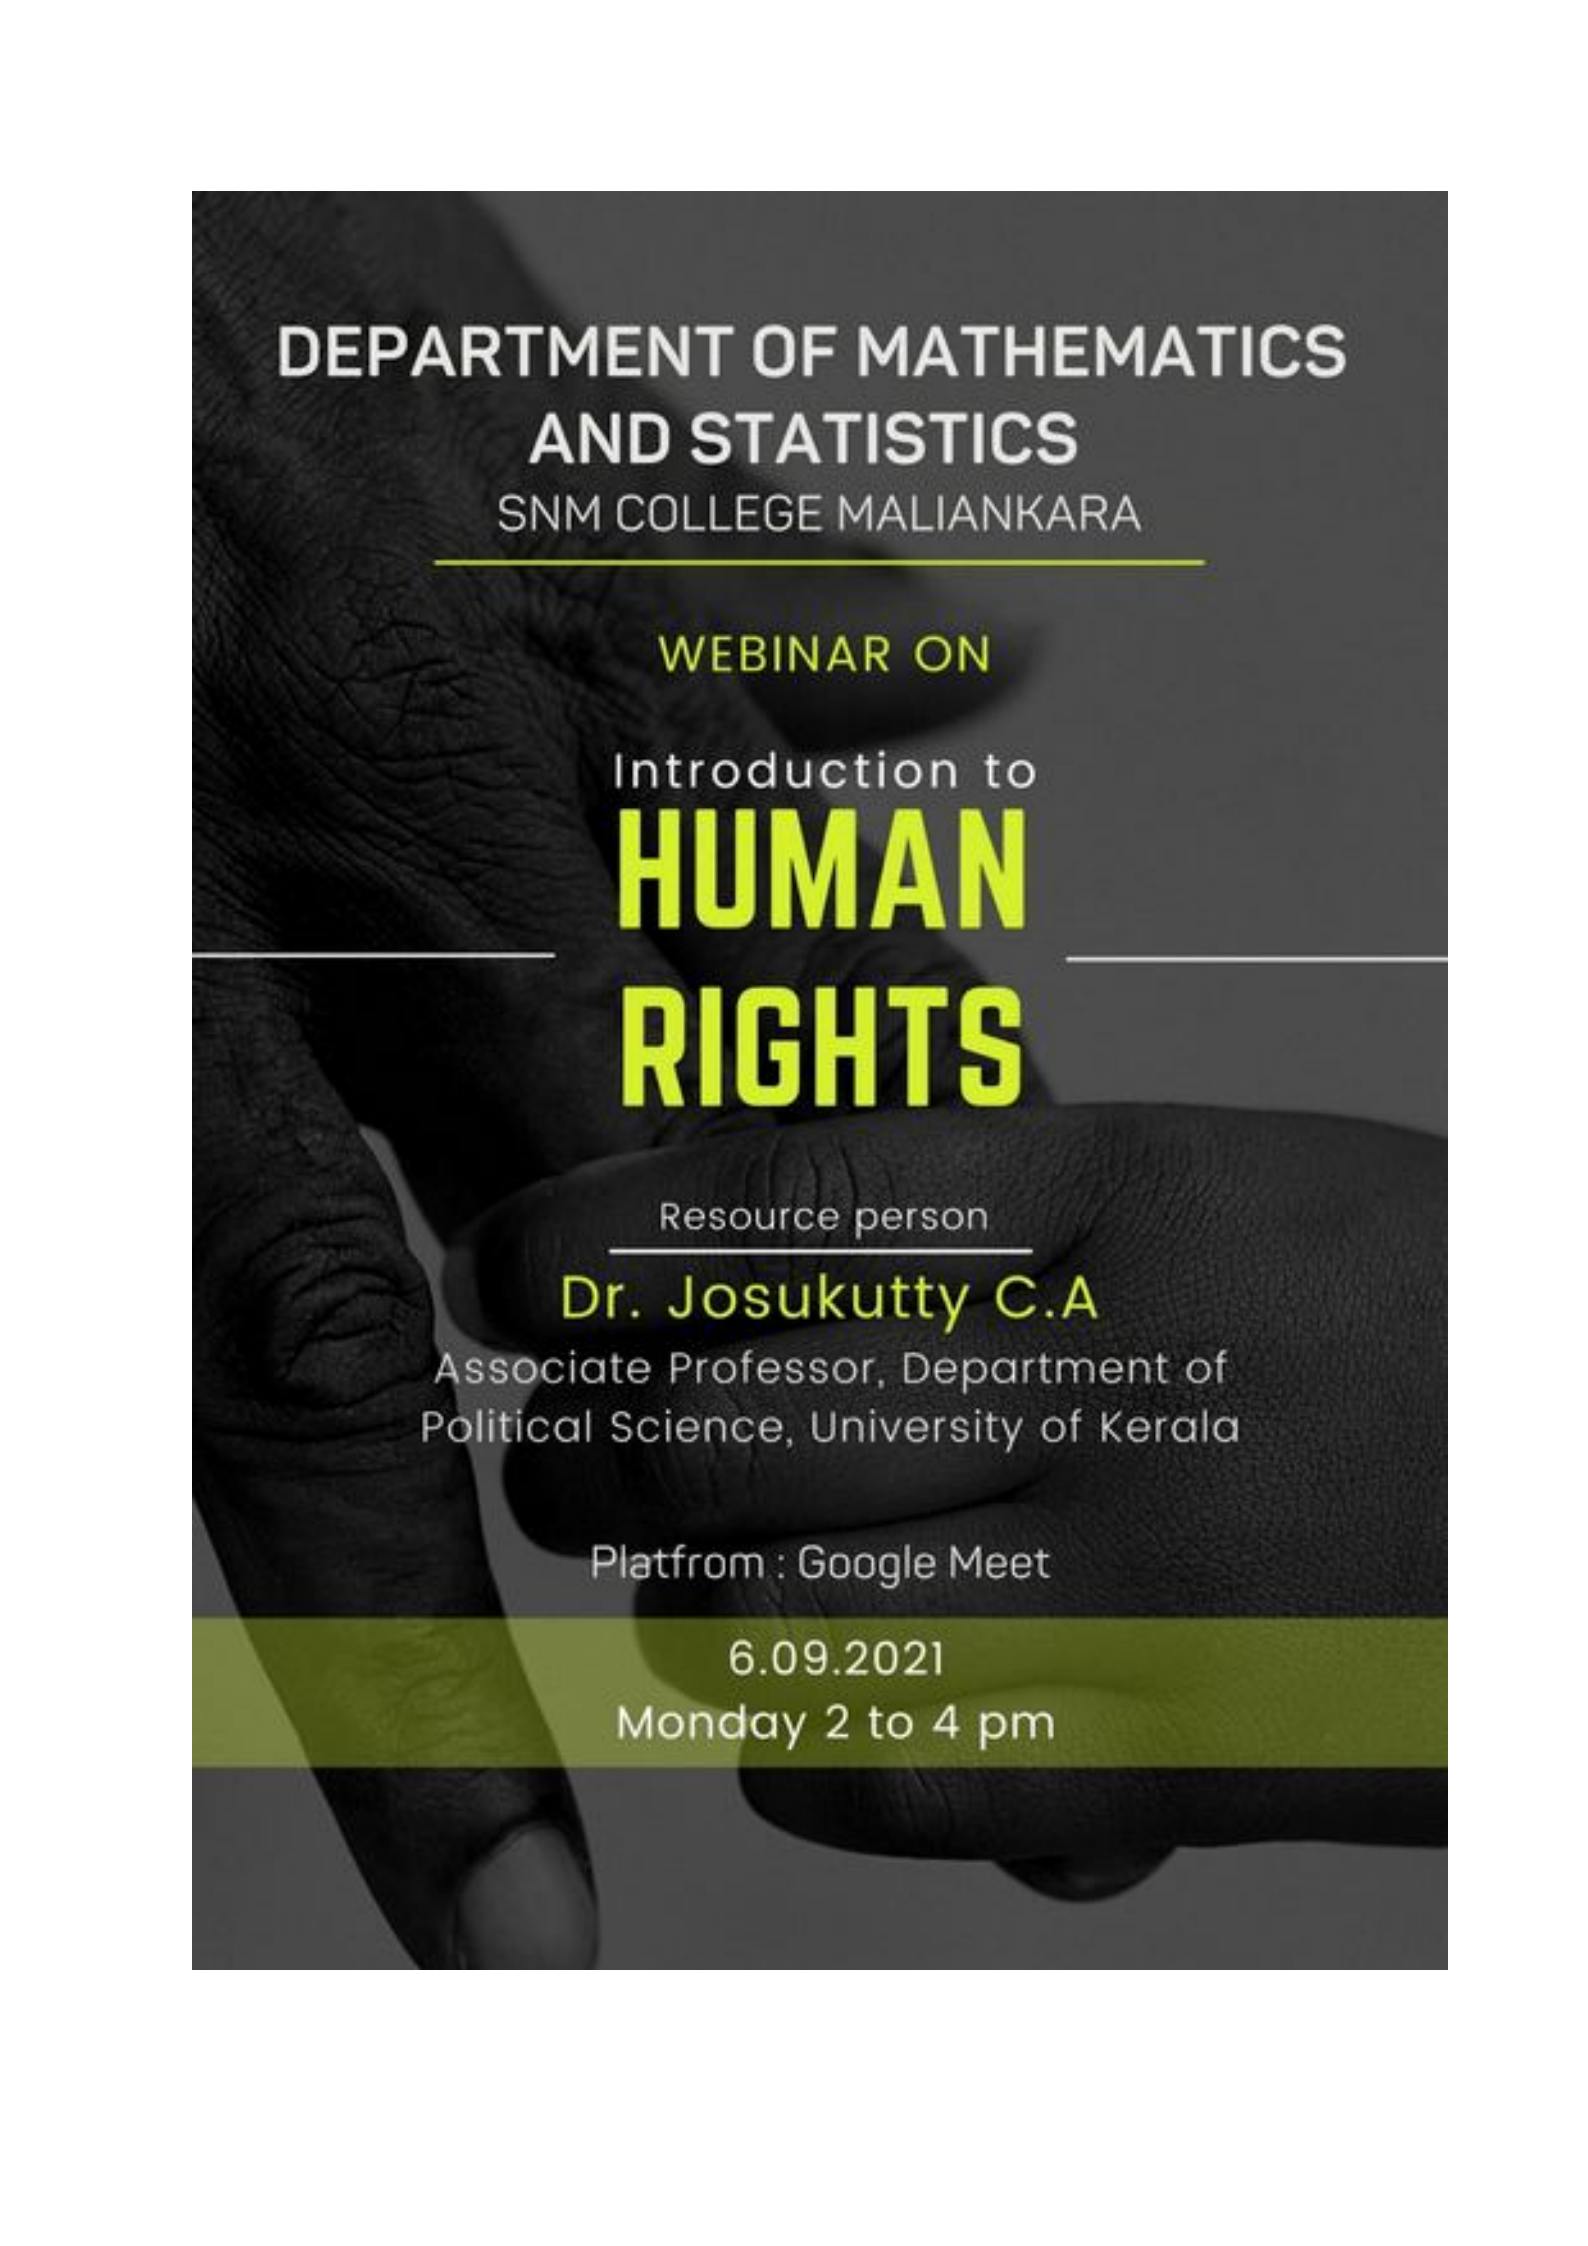

Participants became aware of the fundamental principles underlying human rights, including equality, dignity, and freedom.

Participants recognized the importance of upholding and protecting human rights in order to create a just and equitable society.

Participants were able to engage in discussions and ask relevant questions, fostering a deeper understanding of the topic.

The webinar encouraged critical thinking and reflection among the participants regarding the role of human rights in their respective fields of study.

Participants gained valuable knowledge that can contribute to their personal and academic growth.
