4. Date : 14th February, 2022

5. Number of participants: 17

6. Venue: Ward 1, Vadakkekara Panchayath

7. Resource Person/s : Nil

8. Objective of the Program : 1. To study the socio-economic background of households engaged in homestead farming. 2. To study various homestead farming practices during the pandemic period in Vadakkekara Panchayath. 3. To evaluate various types of problems faced by farmers who engaged in homestead farming.

9. Detailed description of the event: The study which was conducted in Vadakkekara Gram Panchayat was done as part of the Village adoption programme. The data collected for the study is both primary and secondary in nature. Data are obtained from household farmers who grow a variety of crops including trees that grow a long side livestock. It was collected from the farmers of Vadakkekara Panchayath at the time of the COVID-19 pandemic. Primary data collected from the 30 farmers of ward 1 of Vadakkekara panchayat were taken for analysis. To obtain this primary data, a structured questionnaire was developed in the form of a question schedule. Additionally, interviews were conducted to elicit detailed information regarding farming practices, challenges faced, and the impact of the pandemic on their agricultural activities.

10. Outcome of the event/Evaluation by Program Coordinator: The program was well organized and the staff and students of the Economics department participated in this program. The survey conducted by the students helped to create awareness about various types of homestead farming practices especially vegetable farming adopted by villagers in Vadakkekara Panchayath. The survey focuses on the farming practices adopted by villagers and the challenges posed by the pandemic. This provided students with a unique opportunity to observe resilience and adaptability in the face of adversity.
